

Too Good for the Price.

That may not sound reasonable, but judged by ordinary prices of Children's Clothing it is true enough of our suits.

You'll find more stylish and more serviceable garments for the small boys here than anywhere else, and you won't pay more than for the very much inferior "dry-goods-store" stuff.

For the small boys we have the Sailor, Russian Blouse and Vestee Suits, all beautifully finished, and they'll wear well. For Boys 7 to 16 the Two-Piece Suit with double-breasted coat is the thing.

For small boys we are showing many styles of Overcoats, designs entirely new and very pretty. Mothers of boys should come and get the first pick of the many beautiful styles.

SCHOOL CHILDREN FIND OLD CEMETERY.

In It Kickapoo Indians of a Century Ago Are Supposed to Be Buried.

LOCATED IN A GRAVEL PIT.

Discovery Made in Edgar County, Ill., Possesses Much Historic Interest—How It Was Made.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Mattoon, Ill., Oct. 5.—Evidence of a cemetery wherein Kickapoo Indians of a century ago are supposed to be buried has been unearthed in Edgar County, twenty miles east of this city.

The discovery was made by school children on the farm owned by Mrs. C. M. True, one mile east of the Ingle Schoolhouse, Mattoon, Ill. The children, while digging up a gravel pit, found a number of arrows, flintheads and Indian tomahawks.

The school children, hearing of the find, made further excavations and dug up twenty-eight skulls in a fair state of preservation. More weapons and several utensils of undoubted Indian origin were found. Another individual fact proving that the bones were those of aborigines, is that the position in which they lay showed that the bodies had been interred in trenches in a sitting position, a well-known Indian burial custom.

That the remains were those of the Kickapoo tribe is accounted for by a legendary tale, familiar to the older residents of this section, handed down from generation to generation for more than a century.

The story goes that a tribe of Kickapoos were stricken with an epidemic of measles—not an unknown disease in those days—and in great alarm consulted their medicine man. The medicine man, who was a Frenchman, in a desperate effort to save himself and in a desperate state of mind, he had been advised by the medicine man, the Indians bathed in a pool of water fed by underground springs.

The epidemic of measles was overcome, but an epidemic of pneumonia followed and many died. The medicine man was banished.

Kansas Township residents are familiar with the pool in which the Indians bathed. Until quite recently the land where the cemetery was found had never been cultivated. The bones and relics were found only four feet beneath the surface.

WAGE QUESTION DEFERRED.
All Fall River Operatives Probably Will Return to Work Monday.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Fall River, Mass., Oct. 5.—The five labor unions' secretaries gave out the following at noon: "The Executive Committee of the Textile Council unanimously recommended every operative to return to work Monday morning."

"We feel that whatever action is taken must be unanimous on this important question, and we believe it to be to the best interest of every operative in this city that wage question be deferred for at least two weeks. In conclusion, we urge every operative to return to work Monday morning pending action on this wage question."

All the unions, except the Spinners, had voted to walk out Monday for an advance of 5 per cent in wages. The postponement of the order may mean a settlement.

DEATH RATHER THAN ASYLUM.
Man Whose Mind Was Affected Committed Suicide.

East Orange, N. J., Oct. 5.—Henry Hart committed suicide by plunging a bread knife with a seven-inch blade into his abdomen.

His mind had been affected, and it had been decided to commit him to the Morris Plains Hospital for the Insane. He took his wife he would kill himself rather than go there.

When Doctor Charles A. Groves and Detective Bell called to take Hart away he got the bread knife, locked himself in a room, thrust the knife into his body, and looked the door and staggered downstairs, falling at the bottom. He died in a hospital.

Tramped Three Miles With Bullet Near His Heart.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 5.—With a bullet wound in his breast, less than an inch from his heart, James McCarthy, 28 years of age, walked three miles to Round Brook, a distance of more than three miles. An hour before he was shot in a row with negroes.

McCarthy is now at the Somerset Hospital, and is in a critical condition. He has been suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia, and his condition is very serious.

McCarthy says he was left Philadelphia, where his home is, and got aboard a Philadelphia and Reading freight train. Two negroes came to McCarthy's assistance, and one on either side, helped him to walk to Round Brook.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR ST. LOUIS FAIR.

Special Attractions and First-Class Entertainment Promised by the Management.

GAMES AND BICYCLE RACES.

Horse Show and Live Stock Exhibit Expected to Surpass All Others—Monday to Be Children's Day.

Everything is in shape for the opening of the forty-fourth annual St. Louis Fair to-day. The show will continue for a week, and the indications are that it will prove highly successful. The new management has left nothing undone to provide a first-class entertainment, special attractions of various kinds being engaged to give free performances in the big amphitheater in the course of the week.

The athletic games and bicycle races to take place Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in the arena promise to be the most interesting ever held. Arthur Duffy, the world's champion 100-yard sprinter; John Flanagan, the world's champion hammer thrower; and P. J. O'Connor, the world's champion shot putter, are entered for their respective events.

As a horse show and live stock exhibition the fair of 1901 promises to break all previous records. The entries in the cattle, sheep and swine classes are strong in quality as well as quantity, and the equine show things in the arena promise to be more interesting than ever.

The rivalry between Missouri and Kentucky breeders in the saddle horse rings is bound to be as spirited as ever, nearly all the leading breeders from both States having entries in the important classes. A magnificent show of harness business classes is promised for Big Thursday and Friday.

As usual, the custom of having a free gate for the school children on Monday will be observed this year, and a special set of four races for boys and girls has been arranged for the entertainment of the juveniles.

Women folks are always interested in the Textile Hall, where an immense show of fancy work will be on exhibition. From Adair of Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney, who has charge of the department this year, has assembled a corps of window dressers and decorators from the big downtown establishments to place the exhibit in shape.

Over 100 Belgian horses and hundreds of home-bred pigeons, with great flying records, will be on exhibition in their respective departments. The poultry show also promises to be greater than ever. New York and Wisconsin children men will be represented in this department.

A special department of photography has been established. It is expected to be one of the most interesting of the big show. Amateurs, as well as professionals, will compete for the prizes offered.

Superintendent Oyster announced last night that the show will be held in the Textile Hall, which is a building of 100,000 square feet, and will be the largest show ever held in St. Louis. It will be held in the Textile Hall, which is a building of 100,000 square feet, and will be the largest show ever held in St. Louis.

There will be no harness races on the big track next week, all being confined to the Textile Hall. Running and jumping will fill up the programme on the mile course, which will be held in the Textile Hall. The horse show will be held in the Textile Hall, which is a building of 100,000 square feet, and will be the largest show ever held in St. Louis.

Improvements have been made all over the Fair Ground, which is now in better shape than it has been for years. The Textile Hall is a new grand old building, built on a new grand old site, and will be the largest show ever held in St. Louis.

NEED AMERICAN MANAGERS.
English Railroads, Says Verkes, Must Go Into New Hands.

London, Oct. 5.—The opinion of Charles T. Verkes regarding English railways is that they must be taken in hand by Americans and worked in their way, or else they will be laid down under the enormous capitalization and wasteful methods.

A mass of tables, issued by the Government this week on railways in the United Kingdom in 1900, is a mighty unpleasant reading for the shareholders, showing the enormous expenses, out of all proportion with the increase in receipts.

Of the total paid-up capital of £1,750,000,000, 100 per cent, or £1,750,000,000 is due to nominal additions on consolidation, conversion and division of stocks. The average rate of dividend is only 2.4 per cent, as against 3.67 per cent in 1899.

It is the realization of these shortcomings which has induced the departure for New York of several prominent officials of the Northeastern Railway Company, including George Clark, the general manager, and Mr. Hart, the traffic manager, who sailed on the St. Louis for the United States, to study the operation of their trip being a month's study of the American railway system.

He was a machinist, 37 years old. He came to St. Louis from Skowhegan, Me., where his parents reside. His body problem was sent to the city for burial. He was of a quiet disposition. Friday night he arrived at home about 6 o'clock. Shortly after he retired his wife was aroused by the report of a pistol. Her husband had shot himself in the right temple, he said, but was unconscious in a few minutes. He had been married one year.

He was one of the original builders of the Jefferson furnace, in Jackson County, in 1823, and was its successful manager forty-two years, during which period the furnace was never operated a single Sunday. It was closed down at midnight on Saturday and starting again at midnight on Sunday.

The business of the furnace was a great success from 1850 to its close, paying an average dividend for forty-two years of 40 per cent a year, and all the stockholders became wealthy.

A COSTLY WEDDING TRIP.
Leads to Suit to Foreclose Mortgages on Property.

New York, Oct. 5.—A wedding trip has caused a great deal of trouble for the owner of an up-town apartment-house. Incidentally, the tenants of the house are in somewhat of a quandary as to whom to pay their rent.

The house over which the dispute arises is a five-story building and contains about twenty tenants. Abraham Rosen is the owner of record.

Mr. Rosen is a cloak manufacturer. Some time ago he purchased an apartment-house in question. On this was a first mortgage of $25,000. Second mortgages to the amount of $50,000 were also secured.

Mr. Rosen made an arrangement with the mortgagee to pay off the first mortgage in installments, and the same conditions existed as to the second mortgage. Just what happened in connection with this arrangement is told in Rosen's affidavit.

"In the month of June of this year I was married and left the city of New York on a wedding trip, intending to return in about a month; that was the dull season of my business."

Mr. Rosen relates how he returned to the city for a few days, and then left again with his wife, remaining away until August 20. He operated his place of business on the next Tuesday and found a notice that the mortgagee had foreclosed on his mortgage.

He says that he understood that the mortgagee had foreclosed on his mortgage, and that he had been informed that the mortgagee had foreclosed on his mortgage.
